CIA Experts To Speak At Post

Briefings Part Of War College Course

Two of the ~~Central Intelligence~~ Agencies' top experts will speak at Carlisle Barracks tomorrow. Dr. Russell J. Smith, CIA's assistant director for current intelligence, and Lyman B. Kirkpatrick, Jr., CIA's executive director, will address the Army War College Class of 1962-63 on "The Role of CIA in National Security".

Scheduled for 10:30 in Root Hall, the briefings are part of the Course 1 which orients students on the contemporary world.

Kirkpatrick, who has been with CIA since 1947, served with the OSS during World War II. He was chosen one of the ten outstanding career officers in the Federal government by the National Service League in 1960.

Smith also has served with the CIA since 1947. He received a doctor of philosophy degree from Cornell University in 1941. During World War II he was assigned to the Office of Strategic Services, Washington, Dc.

Course 1 at the War College is part of the eight course curriculum which prepares senior military and civilian officials for top level positions in government service.
